NSW Labor Shadow Ministry Update

On 11 June 2021, the newly elected Leader of the New South Wales Labor Party, Chris Minns, announced his Shadow Ministry.

Minns was elected unanimously as leader last Friday by the Labor caucus. He was first elected as the Member for Kogarah in Sydney's St George District at the 2015 State Election and has served in Labor's Shadow Cabinet since 2018.

Prue Car, the Member for Londonderry in Sydney's Western Suburbs, has been elected Deputy Labor Leader. She has served in the NSW Parliament since being elected at the 2015 Election.

Penny Sharpe MLC will become the first female Labor Leader in the Upper House, and John Graham MLC will serve as Deputy Leader in the Upper House.

The full Shadow Ministry was announced Friday 11 June, with their first public appearance on Saturday 12 June in North Parramatta.
