

The 2022 Australian Federal Election: Results

The 2022 Federal Australian Election was held on the 21st of May, 2022. The Australian Labor Party was elected into majority government under leader Anthony Albanese, defeating the incumbent Coalition government, led by Prime Minister Scott Morrison. The Labor Party last held government in 2013 and has not held a majority in the Lower House since 2010.

The Albanese Government's election commitment's can be accessed here.

The complete list of cabinet members in the first Albanese Ministry can be accessed here.

The House of Representatives

There are 151 seats in the lower house (House of Representatives) and a party requires 76 seats to govern in their own right.

The Labor Party has won 77 seats and 32.6% of the primary vote, representing an 0.8% primary vote swing against the party across the nation.

The Green's primary vote increased nationally by 0.7% and for the first time in the Australian Parliament, they have won 4 seats in the lower house.

Hawker Britton

Government Relations Strategy

Bob Katter (Katter's Australian Party) and Rebekha Sharkie (Centre Alliance) have retained their seats of Kennedy and Mayo respectively.

10 independents have been elected onto the crossbench. Andrew Wilkie, Zali Steggall and Dr Helen Haines were re-elected and will be joined by 7 newly elected female MP's.

With the exception of the seat of Fowler, the "TEAL" candidates have ousted sitting Liberal Members and have listed action on climate change and a national integrity commission as their top priorities.

The House of Representatives (2022)

Party	2022 Election	2019 election	Seats Changed
ALP	77	69	+ 8
LNP	58	76	- 18
Independents	10	3	+ 7
Minority Party	6	3	+ 3

Hawker Britton

Government Relations Strategy

The following table depicts the House of Representatives seats that have been confirmed as changing parties.

Seat	Previous Party	Previous Member	New Party	New Member
Bennelong (NSW)	LNP	John Alexander	ALP	Jerome Laxale
Boothby (SA)	LNP	Nicolle Flint	ALP	Louise Miller-Frost
Chisholm (VIC)	LNP	Gladys Liu	ALP	Carina Garland
Hasluck (WA)	LNP	Ken Wyatt	ALP	Tania Lawrence
Higgins (VIC)	LNP	Katie Allen	ALP	Michelle Ananda-Rajah
Pearce (WA)	LNP	Christian Porter (Retiring)	ALP	Tracey Roberts
Reid (NSW)	LNP	Fiona Martin	ALP	Sally Sitou
Robertson (NSW)	LNP	Lucy Wicks	ALP	Gordon Reid
Swan (WA)	LNP	Steve Irons (Retiring)	ALP	Zaneta Mascarenhas
Tangney (WA)	LNP	Ben Morton	ALP	Sam Lim
Brisbane (QLD)	LNP	Trevor Evans	GRN	Stephen Bates
Griffith (QLD)	ALP	Terri Butler	GRN	Max Chandler-Mather
Ryan (NSW)	LNP	Julian Simmonds	GRN	Elizabeth Watson-Brown
Curtin (WA)	LNP	Celia Hammond	IND	Kate Chaney
Fowler (NSW)	ALP	Chris Hayes (Retiring)	IND	Dai Le
Goldstein (VIC)	LNP	Tim Wilson	IND	Zoe Daniel
Kooyong (VIC)	LNP	Josh Frydenberg	IND	Monique Ryan
Mackellar (NSW)	LNP	Jason Falinski	IND	Sophie Scamps
North Sydney (NSW)	LNP	Trent Zimmerman	IND	Kylea Tink
Wentworth (VIC)	LNP	Dave Sharma	IND	Allegra Spender

The Senate

There are 76 Senators in the Australian Senate. Six senate seats from each state and two senate seats from each of the Territories, totalling 40 senate seats, are elected at each election.

The Senators elected in the 2022 Election are:

Hawker Britton

Government Relations Strategy

	QLD	NT	ACT	WA	NSW	VIC	TAS	SA	Total
Coalition	2	1		2	3	2	2	3	15
ALP	2	1	1	3	2	2	2	2	15
Greens	1			1	1	1	1	1	6
Other	1		1			1	1		4
Total	6	2	2	6	6	6	6	6	40

Each of the six states have elected at least 2 Labor, 2 Coalition and 1 Greens Senator.

A 10.5% swing towards Labor in Western Australia saw the party gain a third senate spot.

Despite a swing against the Coalition in both South Australia and New South Wales, the party retained three senate seats.

Tasmania elected a second Jackie Lambie Network senator and in Queensland, Pauline Hanson was re-elected into the senate. The United Australia Party's Candidate Ralph Babet has won the final spot in Victoria.

In the Northern Territory, both the Australian Labor Party and the Country Liberal Party have won a senate seat each. In the ACT, Labor's Katy Gallagher has retained her senate spot. For the first time in ACT's history, an independent senate candidate (David Pocock) has been elected, defeating the Liberal senate candidate (Zed Seselija).

The complete composition of the Senate, including Senators electors in 2019:

Senate Composition 2022- 25

Hawker Britton

Government Relations Strategy

Neither major party holds a majority in the Senate. Labor will require the support of either the Coalition or the support of Greens and another member of the Cross Bench to pass legislation in the Upper house.

Key Dates

The first sitting week of the Parliament will be the 26th of July.

The complete Parliamentary sitting calendar can be accessed here (will link to HB website)

The Government has committed to delivering a federal Budget in October.

For more information, please contact Hawker Britton's Managing Director Simon Banks on +61 419 648 587.

The House of Representatives (2022)

● ALP ● Greens ● Independants ● CA ● Katter ● UAP

Senate Composition 2022- 25

● ALP ● Greens ● Independants ● JLN ● PHON ● UAP ● Coalition

2019 House of Representatives Election Results

Party	2022 Election	2019 election	Seats Changed
ALP	77	69	+ 8
LNP	58	76	- 18
Independents	10	3	+ 7
Minority Party	6	3	+ 3

2022 Senate Election results

	QLD	NT	ACT	WA	NSW	VIC	TAS	SA	Total
Coalition	2	1		2	3	2	2	3	15
ALP	2	1	1	3	2	2	2	2	15
Greens	1			1	1	1	1	1	6
Other	1		1			1	1		4
Total	6	2	2	6	6	6	6	6	40

Primary vote

